

Until You Try

No one can tell you're sinking,
The darkness of your thinking,
No one can see you're so alone.

And all the lies you're telling,
The stories you've been selling,
They're getting easy to disown.

Chorus -
Day after day
Such a high price to pay.
Sometimes you try, yeah you try,
You really try to start anew,
But...

The promises when waking,
By evening you'll be breaking.
Feels like a beast that won't be tamed.

Your head is filled with voices
Debating all the choices.
But only one of them holds reign.

Chorus -
Day after day
Such a high price to pay.
Sometimes you try, yeah you try,
You really try to start anew,
But...

You have no way of dealing
With all you're scared of feeling,
Except to up and run away.

You never get very far
Before you're back where you are
With all your demons left to slay.

Chorus -
Day after day
Such a high price to pay.
Sometimes you try, yeah you try,
You really try to start anew.

It's hard to say goodbye when
It does what nothing else can.
Willpower always starts to lag.

But it's just so relentless,
It leaves you bruised and senseless.
What will it take to raise the flag?

Chorus -
Day after day
It's not going away.
Until you try, yeah you try,
You really try and start anew.

Until you try, yeah you try,
You really try and start anew.

Until you try, yeah you try,
You really try and start anew.