

Just for Today

Once upon a time, not so long ago
I saw something amazing, to behold
A white barn owl on an English countryside
I came to tears, watching it glide

Just for today I'll be happy and bright
Just for today I'll let go of the fight
Just for today I'll love all that I am
Just for today I won't give a damn

So for today I'll dream that I can fly
For life is too short and just passes us by
As I get older and I think about death
I will fly high until my last breath

Just for today I'll do everything right
Hold onto the bright side with all of my might
If this is the last day, I spend with you
Then let it be joyful, authentic and true

Just for today I'll be happy and bright
Just for today I'll let go of the fight
Just for today I'll love all that I am
Just for today I won't give a damn
Just for today I won't give a damn
